

Safety Information

About Photosensitive Seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these "photosensitive epileptic seizures" while watching video games.

These seizures may have a variety of symptoms, including lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects.

Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures.

The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by sitting farther from the television screen, using a smaller television screen, playing in a well-lit room, and not playing when you are drowsy or fatigued.

If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

Other Important Health and Safety Information The Xbox Instruction Manual contains important health and safety information that you should read and understand before using this software.

Avoid Damage to Your Television

Do not use with certain televisions. Some televisions, especially front- or rear-projection types, can be damaged if any video games, including Xbox games, are played on them. Static images presented during the normal course of game play may "burn in" to the screen, causing a permanent shadow of the static image to appear at all times, even when video games are not being played. Similar damage may occur from static images created when placing a video game on hold or pause. Consult your television owner's manual to determine if video games can be played safely on your set. If you are unable to find this information in the owner's manual, contact your television dealer or the manufacturer to determine if video games can be played safely on your set.

Unauthorized copying, reverse engineering, transmission, public performance, rental, pay for play, or circumvention of copy protection is strictly prohibited.

JUMP INTO HELL

The battle platform Honour Guard is now under the command of homicidal clones and crawls with a menagerie of genetic horrors. Marshall "Dutch" Cane wants to join the party.

Cane is a member of the Jump Posse, a law enforcement organization that regulates battle platforms crewed by M1-2 human clones. Posse members are heavily armed and can respond quickly in super fast jump ships.

The Properties are commercial interests existing on the very fringe of galactic human influence. The battle platforms guard these interests. It is here that the human clone first demonstrated profitability. The Honour Guard crew's DNA originated from the original combat crew. Four generations of Honour Guard clones have served flawlessly, fending off invasion by vandals or highjackers attacking the Properties.

M1-2 types are the ultimate in worker bio-systems. Able to self-replicate when needed, they promise the ultimate dream in human resource management. Genetic engineering insures that emotion and personal ambition are filtered out of the final product. These humans without souls have transcended legal concerns about human rights. They work, attack, defend or die without shedding a tear.

But something went wrong. While defending an incursion on a fuel outpost by alien Xenos invaders, a gunner clone named C.F. Stephens

(ver. 4) was exposed to a genome virus carried by one of the attackers. The clone's first reaction was to become self-aware and like his original, voraciously ambitious. Stephens quickly learned how to clone himself with the intent of creating a personal army. The virus spread with each replication and DNA can take only so much abuse. The Stephens clones, already tortured and psychotic, exploded into monstrous life forms. They slaughtered every other clone on the ship. Now C.F. Stevens is in command of Honour Guard and his hideous offspring are about to populate the solar system. They'll have to go through "Dutch" Cane first.

THE WEAPONS

Jump Posse weaponry ranges from basic to bizarre, and all weapons are lethal. To pick up a weapon or ammo, just walk up to it.

MACHINE GUN

This is the basic weapon and a real life saver because it never runs out of 9mm slugs. However, it can overheat and will stop firing until it cools off. Fire quick bursts to keep the temperature down.

ROTARY SHOTGUN

This Jump Posse version of a street sweeper is nicknamed a "B-B Gun." It sprays 150 steel balls in a wide swath of pulverizing destruction – great for clearing bugs from passageways.

FLAMETHROWER

Hose 'em down until they glow like a charcoal briquette. The 20mm slow-burst incendiary canister bathes the enemy in a shower of searing plasma flames.

MINIGUN

Six barrels spin out 1000 rounds per minute of hand-held mutilation. The muzzle velocity of the 7.62 rounds is jacked up to six times normal for pulverizing impact on hardened bunkers.

FLECHETTE NAIL GUN

Hammer anything with this belt-driven weapon that fires six-inch hardened steel nails at three rounds per second.

GRENADE LAUNCHER

This 40mm high explosive grenade sends shrapnel ripping through the air at about 1500 meters per second. Everything in the blast zone gets shredded.

MISSILE LAUNCHER

This shoulder launched mini-missile delivers a devastating high-explosive blast to take out multiple targets.

SONIC IMPULSE CANNON

The impulse cannon is the most powerful Jump Posse weapon Dutch carries. It emits a coned concussive blast that shatters just about anything. Press and hold the fire button to charge and release to fire the weapon.

GAME PLAY TIPS

- Explore everywhere! You never know where a new weapon might be hiding.
- Watch your Temperature! The machine gun will overheat and stop functioning correctly if you fire continuously. Use short bursts to keep it cool.
- There's no ammo shortage on the Honour Guard, so fire away with all munitions.
- Watch and learn. Each enemy has certain behaviors. Pay careful attention and you may be able to avoid their attacks.
- Your Jetpack is not just for jumping. Use your jetpack to hover, giving you 2 levels to fight on.
- Your gun can aim in any direction. Use this to your advantage.
- Bigger monstrosities lurk around the ship. Keep your health up so you'll have a chance to survive those long fights.
- Check your map! The Honour Guard is a big place and you can easily get lost. Use your map to help guide you.
- Listen to your radio. Red will give you good advice. Listen to him and you may have a chance.
- Destroy those containers! Ammo dumps can be found inside barrels and crates, helping you to fend off the enemy.
